Apprentice Mentor Checklist

Having apprentices is hugely beneficial for employers and the apprentices. However, there are a few things to consider when supporting apprentices.

Are you familiar with:

- The differences between coaching and mentoring and when to use each?
- Good practice boundaries as mentors?
- Employer requirements when working with apprentices?
- The structure of mentoring conversations?
- How to use the group mind when working with teams?
- Monitoring their induction?
- Giving structured feedback?
- Understand the need for more praise and support?
- Preparing apprentices for working life?
- Supporting any social or emotional problems?
- Engaging with hard to reach apprentices?
- Supporting low level mental health difficulties?
- Understanding the learning process?
- Understanding how your emotions affect the support you give?

Missing one or more? Then ask your training provider about the National Apprentice Mentoring Qualification.

www.thementoringschool.com/apprentice